men cyclists. The Gold Medal and Sportsman's Light Tourist models in this class carry a luxury specification, and are designed to cater for the growing demand for machines of the very highest quality.

The Gold Medal bicycle is fitted with the new B.S.A. Dual-Purpose gear which may be used as a fixed drive or free wheel on either of two speeds.

In the matter of equipment an endeavour has been made to meet the latest requirements of the cycling public. Brook's solid leather top saddles are fitted as standard on all models. Celluloid mudguards, cantilever brakes, Cyclo gear, dynamo lighting sets and other refinements are either standard fittings or optional extras.

CLAUD BUTLER No. 149

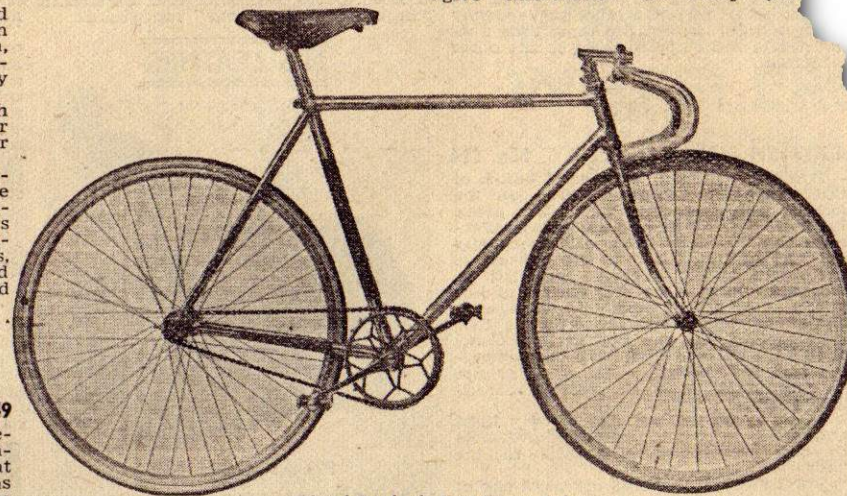

The name of Claud Butler is a household word in the lightweight cycle industry, and it is a safe prediction that the Butler stand at the show will be as a magnet to a very large number of the "fans."

The complete range of models that have won recent success both in racing and touring will be on show. The C.B. "Supreme" model, at £10, or £11 17s. 6d. with Chater or B.S.A. fittings, will be the choice of many clubmen who require a medium-priced, reliable machine for use under all manner of conditions and for every kind of purpose.

The C.B. "Anglo-Continental" model, an entirely new design built from C.B. specially manufactured lugs, will arouse great interest amongst all fast men who have not yet made this model's acquaintance.

Special ladies' models are a feature of the Claud Butler list including the C.B. "Miss Modern" model.

Altogether there are over a dozen popular singles in the Claud Butler list, several tandems including the C.B. Record Olympic model at £18 18s. (with C.B. fittings), and two remarkably fine tricycles for the three-wheeler enthusiast.

Claud Butler's E.H.C. model

Amongst new C.B. departures, interest will be chiefly centred round the Continental lug cutaway, an entirely fresh departure in lug cutting and filing. The triplet model being exhibited will, doubtless, arouse much comment, as well as the new "Continental Club" model, the "Tourist Alpine" model, and the C.B. "Tour d'Angleterre" model. The "Stayer Ultra Shortbase" tandem will be on view for the first time.

In conclusion, Claud Butler's bumper display of useful accessories and his range of Continental clothing are bound to be attractions.

CARLTON CYCLES, LTD. No. 65

Visitors to the Carlton Cycles Company's stand will find, in addition to the bicycles that are interesting...

CAMPING CLUB OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND

Although there will be nothing exhibited on Stand No. 5, apart from a few handbooks and publications, it will nevertheless, be one of the busiest at the show. Expert campers of the Camping Club of Great Britain and Ireland will be in attendance, and will be pleased to give information on every possible aspect of camping, whether at home or abroad, walking, cycling, motoring, caravanning or canoeing.
