A Quality Range.
FRANCIS AND BARNETT, LTD. . . . 35

THE cheapest bicycle on the stand of Francis and Barnett, Ltd. (Lower Ford Street, Coventry) is priced at £8 15s. In other words, it is a quality display and, in consequence, well worthy of a visit. The Extra Light Sports will attract first attention. It is built of H.M. tubing throughout, including the resilient forks; the bars, stem and seat pillar being of Hiduminium. It has a hollow racing bracket axle, Blumfield sprint hubs, Mansfield Ormond saddle with duralumin frame Resilient "A" brake and Blumels Noweight mudguards. The tyres may be Dunlop Sprite or others to choice. Its price is £10 10s.

The Super Club model of similar design, but with H.M. bars, Bayliss-Wiley featherweight hubs, Dunlop Sports tyres and Blumels featherweight guards costs £8 15s. A ladies' equivalent called the "Ladies' Super Club" with Reynolds H.M. taper-gauge Comfort bend or North Road reversibles and with Lycett L99 or Brooks S30 saddle costs £9. The same basic specification with a Terry Club or Brooks Legion saddle, internal-expanding hub brakes and an oilbath gearcase is called the "Light Roadster" and priced at £9 5s.

There will also be two tandems, a double-diamond and a lady-back, with otherwise equal specifications. Frame size, 20½-in. front, 20-in. rear, wheelbase 64½-in., "A" quality tubing, solid fork ends, 26-in. by 1½-in. Endrick wheels with Dunlop tandem tyres; handlebars, Lauterwasser front and N.R. rear, or to choice; hub brakes; Trivelox or Sturmey-Archer three-speed gear; Blumels featherweight guards and Terry Club or Brooks Legion saddles. The price of both these models is £15 15s.
