135 TRIUMPH 15 & 48

It should be especially noted that Triumph cycles are rigidly maintaining 1938 prices for 1939 machines, where specifications will remain unaltered. A few new models have been introduced, and these include a "Flyweight" at £8 8s., the "Dominion Sports" at £9 9s., and the "Continental" at £10 17s. 6d. The second of these is a machine designed to appeal to the clubman connoisseur, being built with "551" tubing, Williams chain-wheel, Bluemel's mudguards, and Brooks B.15 saddle. Many variations of specifications are permitted, and a good, hard-wearing mount is completed with one of the ever-popular Resilion Cantilever brakes.
